

An atheist writes

They say that he's a superstar
The only son of God
They say that he did miracles (which does sound somewhat odd)
There's three of them we're still assured (death if you disagree)
They killed him once, he rose again
the kid from Galilee.

A puzzle, puzzling mystery not one I now go near, too many died professing faith in what was never clear It that's your bag, well why delay be off and save your soul old godless me has lost the buzz to cave and pay the toll.

I think I'll still stay circumspect keeping battling for the free I'll wish him well, of course, and luck.
the kid from Galilee.
