

How to live successfully

Life? Simple really, and don't let the wiseacres and gurus who say
they want to help you
help yourself
confuse. It's simple,
quite, quite simple.

There are, of course,
the very obvious things —
always wipe your arse and wash your hands whenever,
but that, in essence, sums it up.

Truth? Only lie
if you really have to,
and if you lie,
keep it simple
and stick to the lie
through thick and thin, don't vary it (people notice).
Simple, really, that word again.
It's all quite, quite simple

Money?
You can't be clearer
than the man who warned: don't lend and don't borrow
It always ends in tears, and the tears are always yours.
If you want something,
save up for it,
bit by bit, a little by little,
and just watch that mountain grow.

The rest of the world?
Treat others as you would like others
to treat you

except, of course, the bastards, crap on the bastards, they deserve no better, (and they know who they are).

And love? Again, it's very simple:
don't fall in love,
it just brings pain.
And don't get too attached, that's just another straight road to misery.

Oh, you already are?
You love your partner, friends, your children, home, your family?

Oh.
